

The One Office Solution

Work Done Versus Time Spent

The average worker who finds himself in the corporate world spends most of his day in the office or at the field. The average Nigerian spends at least 2000 hours working per year. Basically he spends most of his time, day and year working. Ever wondered why time at the office never seems enough, or why no matter how hard you work, you never seem to get the job done? It seems that your clock-time does not work paripasu your real-time.

You pay your staff to work for 8-9 hours per day. Yet, staff output and deliverables are not commensurate even to 6 hours of work done. Work done is hardly ever equivalent to time spent.

TOMS is your work partner that integrates all your business processes into one working whole, giving you the ability to monitor, manage and project your organization's performance while increasing efficiency and reducing time spent.

How Does TOMS do this?

- i. Improved Tracking And Monitoring Of Organizational Performance: TOMS provides you with a set of tools to manage and monitor the performance of projects and processes within the organization.
